THE TERRITORIES.

Good oats and barley for seed are in demand at Walla Walla.

Twenty sacks of mail matter arrived at Olympia last Monday

The aggregate snow fall in Kittitas valley, W T, for the winter up to the 10th ult, was only about 30 inches

Parties who scribble on the walls of the newly painted Court House at Olympia are to be very severely dealt with.

A rush of travel up the Columbia is expected by Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory when the Columbia opens.

Dr. Minor's residence, burned at Walla Walla a few days ago, was insured in the Imperial for $1,500.

The Loeber Brothers have got their new ferry in good running condition at the mouth of Snake river.

A new hearse has been manufactured at Olympia and the citizens talk of purchasing it, but are waiting to see who will need it first.

At Callao, on the 28th of January, the ships Co. Adams and Canada were loading for the Sound. They will be due there in two or three weeks.

We are informed that active measures in building the Columbia River and Walla Walla Railroad will be taken as soon as the weather will permit.

Two jars of alcohol in a Seattle drug store, blew up the other day, blew the window sash out, and came near blowing the druggist into the middle of next week.

The North Western Stage Company are getting ready for the spring travel. They are putting the stock on the road between Walla Walla and Wallula in order to be on hand when the new travel commences.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company have agreed to transport the ministers of the Methodist Church going to and returning from the Annual Conference, to be held in Olympia during the summer, at half price, over their line from Kalama to Olympia.

The following business was transacted at the Walla Walla Land Office during February. 75 homestead applications filed, for 2,010 acres, 36 pre emptions filed, for 4,880 acres, 1,663 acres paid for under the pre emption and homestead laws. Total number of acres disposed of, 8,523.

The Advocate says: "The churches at Salt Lake City, consisting of Presbyterian, Episcopal, Baptist, Congregational and Methodist societies, are all reported as making steady and permanent progress. The Episcopal Church, being the first in the field is the largest in membership, but the Methodist congregation and Sunday School is the largest in the city."

The Russian Church cannot be called the only one in Alaska, as, besides the Rev. Mr. Mcdonald, a Protestant Episcopal missionary, there are two Roman Catholic priests from Canada, belonging to the Order of Jesus—Fathers Jerome and Petits. Their principal station is at Fort Yukon. During the summer months they travel down the river Kvich-Pak, preaching the Gospel to the Indians.

The Walla Walla Statesman says: "We learn that a very large number of stock owners in Walla Walla valley wish to reduce their bands, and to that end offer purchasers great inducements. The valley was never half so well supplied with good, fat cattle, and parties who wish to buy supplies for the Portland and Victoria markets, will find stock owners willing and anxious to sell to them at figures that will leave them all the margin for profits that they desire."

Caton & Stanley's Real Estate Record, for February, says: A bill has been introduced in Congress, granting the right of way for a railroad from the North Pacific road near the crossing of the Spokane river to the Central Pacific via Penawawa, Snake river, Tukannon, Touchet, near Dayton, Waitsburg, Walla Walla, La Grande, Baker City and Boise. At Walla Walla it is designed to connect with a road running west and connecting with the Northern Pacific railroad at the Columbia river. This junction must necessarily make Walla Walla a large inland town.

A writer in Kittitas valley sends the following to the Walla Walla Union: "Our valley is fast filling up with settlers. During the past year the quantity of grain raised has been limited—sufficient, however, for domestic consumption. Another year there will be a surplus. It is beginning to puzzle our producers already, the question, 'What is to be done with that surplus?' We have no outlet to the marts, where it might be sold. We are hemmed in on all sides by high ranges of hills and mountains This exclusiveness is not much relished by our people. Unlike the denizens of the Celestial Empire, we have no gateways to admit of ingress or egress. During the winter all communication with the outside barbarians was cut off for the space of six weeks. We have been more fortunate this winter in the receipt of our mails. The carriers have not missed a trip."

The Walla Walla Union of the 1st says: We have talked with the Indians (the Nez Perces) about their movements, and with settlers and men who have spent much of their lives with the Indians, and from every source we could gain information we have sought it; and have on every hand found proof, to our minds, that the fears of trouble with our Indian neighbors are entirely unfounded. The settlers of the Wallowa valley are a little uneasy about Indian movements in their section, because Joseph's band of Nez Perces have left there in a body and gone to Umatilla There is nothing so very strange about this, however The snow is quite deep over there, and in the mountains between that place and Lapwai it is so deep that they cannot pass, therefore, in order to get to the Columbia plains, where there is no snow, and where grass is good and fish plenty, it is necessary that they should return, as they have, by the way of Umatilla. Some of the people of Umatilla county are uneasy because quite a number of Indians have left the neighborhood of the Agency and have started up the Columbia river. But this is no more than is done every year. During the winter they generally come in to the Reservation and get what they can about the Agency, and as soon as spring opens they again start on their rambling life.

A SINGULAR SCENE IN A CHURCH.—The Hartford Times says.

"A funny scene took place last evening in St John's Church, East Hartford, during the service. The choir had just finished chanting the psalter for the day, when a large corona of evergreens, holding a couple of dozen of candles, was found to be on fire. It was suspended by wires directly over the chancel and held by a large wreath of evergreens reaching the ceiling and sides of the sacristy. It was impossible at the moment to pull these down, and they were soon on fire, the flames spreading rapidly along the heavy ropes of dry evergreens. Rev. Mr. Hobbie, the Rector, threw off his surplice, and so did the choristers, who with the males in the audience rushed out of doors for snow, as no water was available. Then commenced a funny scene, all of these men throwing snowballs at the burning wreaths. They thus succeeded in putting out the fire, which but for their prompt efforts, might have proved serious. After the excitement had been quieted the service was resumed, the Rector announcing that the Te Deum would be sung, and all the congregation, which was large, joined in singing it. In consequence of the smoke which filled the church the sermon was dispensed with."

EASTERN DATES TO MARCH 5.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Forty-Third Congress

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The Senate met at noon. Members all present. Jones of Nevada, Ferry, of Connecticut, and Wadleigh, were sworn in.

When Wadleigh went up to be sworn, Geo E Spencer, of Albany, whose election is contested by Sykes, also offered himself to be sworn in Bayard objected. Bayard said Spencer was aware that his seat would be contested, and that the oath should not be administered until the Senate could report upon his own or contestant's election The question of the swearing of Spencer was discussed by a number of Senators.

Republican Senators this morning held a caucus, at which Stewart, Conkling, Edmunds, Scott and West, were appointed a committee to revise the membership of the Senate standing committees and to report to an adjourned meeting of the caucus to-morrow.

The Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The only immediate change in the Cabinet will be in the Secretaryship of the Treasury, should the present incumbent be elected to the Senate from Massachusetts The opinion that the President believes that he need not re-nominate the present members of the Cabinet for confirmation by the Senate, is strengthened by the fact that all of them were at their respective Departments to-day, and it is said by gentlemen in Executive positions, that no such re nominations will be made.

Official Promotions.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The President to day promoted L. P. Luckey, of Illinois, to be his Private Secretary. C C. Sniffin, Assistant Secretary; and O. L. Pruder, Executive Clerk, in accordance with the civil service reform rules.

The Treasury.

NEW YORK, March 5.—A special from Washington states that Assistant Secretary Richardson says that no action has been taken relative to the forty-four million reserve bill, the Secretary of the Treasury claiming the right to issue the whole amount whenever he may deem it necessary.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The Comptroller of Currency notifies National Banks to report their condition at the close of business on February 28th

The White House.

The President received very few visitors to-day, but received several military organizations who came to pay him their respects, and reviewed others from the stand facing Lafayette Square

The West Point cadets drew immense crowds this morning to witness their drill on Pennsylvania Avenue.

EASTERN STATES.

Trouble in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—The seventh precinct station was quietly taken possession of by the McEnery militia. No resistance was offered by the metropolitans on duty, and no effort has been made to-day to displace the militia. It is understood that further aggressive movements will be made by the militia to-day for twenty squares. To night no policemen are found on duty. They have been called from their beats and concentrated about the Mechanics' Institute About 9 30 o'clock to-night a squad of fifty men attacked the third precinct station, firing upon the building. They were repulsed by the police, but were quickly reinforced by about 350 men. These were attacked by General Badger with about 200 policemen, and a piece of artillery. For about five minutes a sharp rattle of musketry ensued Both parties maintained their position during the time, but at the third discharge of the cannon the militia retreated through Jackson square, and half an hour later the police relieved their comrades who had remained during the conflict. In the building one man named Harlan was killed, and several others were wounded. The United States troops reached the scene at 11 o'clock, and the remaining militia returned, leaving the troops in possession.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The following dispatch was received last night by Marshal Packard from Governor Kellogg:

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—An armed mob of several hundred attacked a police station and the court buildings. We had about one hundred police who repelled the mob, driving them off, and it is reported killing several and wounding others. General Badger came upon their rear capturing and disarming a large number. Police stations are filling up with prisoners. A company of troops came up just after the mob was driven off. They are scattering to their homes. They were distinctly ordered to disperse before there was any firing. The attack was commenced by them.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6, 3 A. M.—The 7th precinct station was re-captured by the Metropolitans at 2½ o'clock this morning. Gen. Badger with eighty men and one piece of artillery reached the station, and making detour in the rear of the building advanced towards it, and sent officer Murphy to demand a surrender Before he reached the station the attacking party were received with a volley from the shotguns of perhaps 75 men, which was immediately returned. The men on duty retreated and the police rushing in captured the station and 7 prisoners. It was ascertained that M. H. Chandler, a citizen, had been mortally wounded by a ball penetrating his abdomen. Another man, Liveman, was struck in the arm by buckshot. Chandler was conveyed to a drug-store, where a physician attended him. No hopes are entertained of his recovery. The physician expresses the opinion that death may be momentarily expected At half-past three o'clock all was quiet and the police at that hour returned to the upper portion of the Market house, leaving a small guard on duty.

LATER—10 A. M.—The city is perfectly quiet this morning. No trouble is anticipated to-day.

It is now stated that Gov. McEnery did not authorize the movement by the militia last night The Metropolitans are in full possession, with United States troops supporting them. The militia are dispersed. Citizens generally seem to regard the attack last night as premature. The object of the Fusionists does not clearly appear, but it is supposed to have been with a view of showing that the people will not quietly submit to the Kellogg government

LATEST—11 30 A. M.—The Metropolitan police, armed as Infantry, have just taken possession of the Odd Fellow's Hall, where the McEnery Legislature has heretofore met, Moncure, Speaker of the House, among other members who were in the hall at the time, were taken to the first precinct police station. Rev. L. T. Woodward reports, through the Advocate, a "most wonderful work of grace as going on among the inhabitants of Howell Prairie, Marion county."

The La Grande market quotations are: Potatoes are worth $1 20 per bushel, and can't be had at that. Hay is bringing $15 per ton. Flour, $5 per barrel. Wheat, $1 per bushel. Beans, 12½ cents per pound. Cattle, no sales of importance.

Everybody in Eastern Oregon is hoping for an early resumption of navigation on the Columbia river. Merchants are very anxious to receive a portion of their spring stocks. Some articles are very scarce—coal oil being one of the staples which it is hard to buy.

From the Sentinel: "Several families who designed emigrating to the Wallowa valley, have abandoned their intentions,—they do not propose having their scalps taken by either the Indians or Peace Commissioners. A number already there will get out as soon as spring opens."

A correspondent of the Sentinel writing from Baker City says: "There is little or no stock dying on lower Powder, but a little on upper Powder. Stock that has not been fed and is living on the out ranges looks much the best in the lower valley; but feed is getting scarce in both valleys, and if winter continues you may look for a report of considerable stock perishing. The crust upon the snow renders it difficult for cattle to make their living; horses, especially of the Cayuse grade, can do much better."

The Statesman says: "Its all a mistake about the Board of Capitol Commissioners having a High-Joint-Clerkship, with two incumbents. There are two employes; but one of them is dignified with the title of Secretary of the Board of Capitol Commissioners, and the other is book keeper, with commissary and quartermaster's power attached. It is said that Columbus is mightily gratified with the title of Secretary. It does sound a notch or two higher than Clerk. Bah! Who would be a mere clerk! Secretary and book keeper make the grades gentle and lovely. The arrangement precludes the possibility of a misunderstanding as to which of the incumbents is the higher joint of the two, and at the same time it gets away with a comfortable and comforting share of that $100,000."

Mr. D. B. Cartwright, in a letter to the Advocate, from Siuslaw Valley, Lane county, says: "Coal has been found in one place—the vein being four feet thick. Limestone is also found in abundance, but not of the finest quality. The Siuslaw empties into the ocean 40 miles from this place, and is a mile wide at its mouth. It is a good mill stream. It is only four miles from this place to the head branches, and so abundant are the mountain springs that the water in the creek is cool and pleasant all summer. I have been spending considerable time of late in searching for the best route for the people of this valley to get to the railroad with their produce. After a thorough examination of all the passes, I find the best is that which leads by a straight line to Cottage Grove, distant 8 miles. In looking for roads I found quite a number of good claims to be taken as homesteads. Some of them are lands easily cleared; others are bottom lands and mostly timbered. A great quantity of the uplands are good farming lands, with good soil. The prospect of coal, too, developed and undeveloped, is quite important, and altogether I think men with small means will do well to come here and take up lands for themselves. Others who are wealthy, but not enjoying their health, will also do well to come here and buy land and make them suitable homes for the sake of health."

The fair is to be held under the auspices of the city government of Kiota, and will include exhibitions of the products and ancient works of art in Japan, such as will soon be swept away by the introduction of Western civilization.

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH [illegible]

A Memorable Congress

The Congress has adjourned. Its last session, though it brought forth comparatively little legislation of an important national character, will be long remembered as one of the most exciting sessions that body ever held. The energies of the entire Congress were devoted almost exclusively to the investigation of matters touching the honor of the nation, and directly compromising the personal standing of many of the most eminent representatives of the Republic in the House, in the Senate, on the bench, and even reaching the person who sits next the President himself. This very remarkable state of affairs was referrable proximately to a charge of corruption made against certain prominent Republicans during the political campaign last fall. It was made in the interest of the so-called Liberal and Democratic parties for the purpose of affecting the Presidential election. There can be no doubt that instead of gaining votes for Mr Greeley, the candidate of the anti-Republican confederation, it caused the loss of many votes to him, so indignant did the people of the nation feel that reputations won by long years of irreproachable life in private and public, and which were regarded the heritage of the country, should be tarnished by a campaign slander. The denial in general terms which was promptly made by the parties involved was sufficient to produce conviction in the popular mind that the persons and journals who branded the Credit Mobilier scandal through the community were engaged in a business very far below the basest conduct to which politicians had been wont to resort to in order to carry elections —which all will agree was putting it pretty strongly. In other words that public mind which had become accustomed to the questionable means commonly employed by politicians to influence the action of voters and had in a measure come to regard the use of such means as "fair in war," and therefore to be tolerated though not justified, was shocked at this wholesale defamation of the brightest characters in the Republic and shrunk from supporting a cause that sought success through such channels.

The Congressional investigations that followed have scarcely changed the mind of the country upon this subject, so far as relates to the criminality of the attack during the Presidential campaign, but they have given the country reason to alter its views of the relations which the charges then made bore to the facts in the case. In the truth, as it has filtered out through much falsehood, there is somewhat for Republicans, as such, to be proud of, and not a little for Americans to be ashamed of. That there was mendacity as well as malice in the charge, as it was originally preferred, is established beyond controversy. Enough to prove this is the fact that only Republicans were accused, whereas it turns out that of all those who had dallied with the great corruptionist and been seduced by his offers, the most culpable was a very prominent representative of the Democratic party. This partial suppressio veri has an element of baseness in it that makes it more detestable to honest minds than a plain unmitigated falsehood. The fact but expressed the sentiment entertained by intelligent and virtuous people the world over in saying > "That a lie which is half a truth is ever the blackest of lies."

But that a number of members of the National Congress were in fact implicated in the Credit Mobilier corruptions is likewise beyond question. Blaine, Henry Wilson, and Dawes who were among the accused have succeeded in clearing themselves fairly before the world. Not so fortunate has been the fate of some others.

The disgrace thus brought upon themselves by members of Congress affects the nation. It would be enough to make the world jeer at Americans and American institutions but for the evidence of National virtue evinced by the popular wrath at these briberies. But while the investigations of the Poland Committee were attracting the attention of the country toward the conduct of its representatives, the spirit of inquiry aroused by the Credit Mobilier had become general, and investigations being pushed in other directions, it was found that the money for which Congressmen and Senators bartered away their own and their country's honor was little more than sufficient in amount to repay what they gave to secure their election to these positions. Not half has been told, doubtless, but enough is known when it appears that eight thousand dollars was the price of a single vote for United States Senator, and that some of those now occupying seats in that body obtained their places at a cost of more than twenty five thousand dollars to themselves and their friends—these latter in one instance including a federal Judge. The king of Brobdignag would be as greatly puzzled to understand the reason of the immense expenditure of time, labor and money to secure a seat in our Congressional halls, as he was at the same conduct on the part of those who sought to serve their country in Parliament, but he would not have to rely upon conjecture at last for a solution of the matter. The Credit Mobilier and its score of counterparts would at once remove all difficulty. But let us hope that what has taken place will serve to revive the old style of political conscience, and that future Congresses shall have no occasion to make themselves so unenviably memorable.

Some of the newspapers, including one or more in this city, have been lately passing round a pathetic story in connection with the authorship of that exquisite poem, "The Beautiful Snow." The story is that the poem was written by "a wretched girl who, after a brief career of shame, died in a hospital." It is related that the poem was found among the the effects of this unfortunate girl, and was published in a newspaper on the morning of the very day upon which she was buried; that it so impressed T Buchanan Read with the genius of the author that "he followed her to the grave as the sole and only mourner." This is a very touching picture, but evidently is nothing but a revamped edition of the old story of Dora Shaw Le Baume, which was published in 1865 and was proven to be a falsehood before the ink that printed it was dry. The authorship of the poem has ceased to be a question among literary people. It was written by J W Watson, Esq, a gentleman long and well known in literary circles of New York City, and was first published in Harper's Weekly in 18[illegible]8.

So tedious and uninteresting was the discussion of the Louisiana case in the Senate on Thursday last, that the Chairman, Ferry, of Michigan, fell asleep and had to be awakened to put the question. The debate did not close until after 5 o'clock, Friday morn-

We know just where to find Gambetta now. He is in opposition to Thiers and the Committee of Thirty. Gambetta esteems it a religious duty to be in continuous opposition to the Government. And yet perhaps it is not poor Monsieur's fault that he is thus elusive. It sometimes becomes a matter of serious inquiry as to where the Government itself is. There are so many nooks and chinks wherein the Government sinks at convenient intervals in many crises—the work of the men of September—all that they would have us believe they came not to destroy but to fulfill. M Thiers will not be a manikin, but he will bob up and down so provokingly like the Lilliputian of the ventriloquist. The thunders of the French tribunal rarely reach us. We can hear Gambetta though, with voice like a Mirabeau: "I deny the right of the Assembly to assume constituent powers and I demand its immediate dissolution. We have always supported the present executive, but this support now requires a sacrifice of principle. When you ask us to make such sacrifice we say No!" But Thiers and the Committee have won, and now—to use a Tweedism—M. Gambetta, what are you going to do about it?

Certain gentlemen of broad vision and a correct sense of the fitness of things have sent to the United States Senate a petition praying that hereafter and throughout all time all persons, whether of the State or National Government, who shall recommend civil war shall register their names in a book to be kept by the Secretary of State at Washington, and that, when the war breaks out, they occupy the front ranks in the line until the war closes, and that in default of so doing they acknowledge themselves ready and worthy of being shot at any instant that the President of the United States or any Governor of a State should order and direct. A Peace Commission will probably be appointed to carry out these provisions. In which instance the advocates of civil war would never be shot. They might get a pass to Washington, though.

While the Czar is fitting out his army of seven thousand to chastise presumptuous Khiva, he is likely to have ample use for an army at home. St Petersburg dispatches tell us that a revolt of alarming proportions, attended by the peculiar atrocities incident to Russian insurrections, has broken out in the Province of Ukraine. Murder and rapine run riot. The furious peasants have taken possession of the largest towns, and the whole district is under arms. A large detachment of government troops has been defeated by the insurgents, and throughout the Province the peasantry are massing for attack and for defense.

A member of the Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention is the author of a novel idea, which if adopted, ought to assist legislation greatly. The gentleman offers an amendment giving the Governor power to veto any section of a bill. An exchange remarks that this will effectually block the ruse heretofore practiced of tacking on obnoxious appropriations to the general appropriation bill, that have avoided a veto from the fact that it was impossible, in some States, to veto the general appropriation bill, and in others that the general appropriations would be defeated by reason of delay. The proposition seems to be a good one.

In one of those short emphatic figures for which the French have become noted, M Thiers told the Committee of Thirty that he would not be a political manikin. And now he tells us what he means by "a political manikin." He offers as an illustration "one of those Chinese figures that wag the head from right to left, backward or forward, as directed by the finger." M Thiers will not wag as the majority directs.

It is said that the Board of Guardians at Sutherland, England, is at present engaged in the discussion of a grave religious problem. The disputed question is as to whether paupers can attend pantomime without imperilling their soul's salvation. The Board is inclined to take the ground that the paupers' souls are endangered, and permission to attend such an exhibition on free passes was denied accordingly.

Georgia does not propose to repudiate. Her legislature has passed a bill appropriating three hundred and seventy five thousand dollars to liquidate an ancient debt, and six hundred thousand dollars to pay off the interest on the State debt. A State that is willing and able to meet such obligations stands in little need of reconstruction.

The municipality of Paris has refused to accept a bequest of 60,000 francs from the estate of one Schuler. The testator gave that sum to the city on condition that it should be applied in building a hospital for the German poor of Paris. But a bequest of 10,000 francs to aid the Protestant Consistory was accepted.

Now that the death of Napoleon has broken the seal of secrecy, Marshal Bazaine will divulge certain important State secrets, relating to the Franco Prussian war. The epizootic reported at Walla Walla, turns out to be nothing but horse distemper of the old sort.

Vancouver Seminary.

This institution has been rapidly growing in popularity during the past year under the very competent management of Prof F D Curtis and Miss J Curtis. Many students from abroad are now attending, and the fine educational facilities offered, as well as cheapness of living and healthfulness of locality, will doubtless induce many more to come.

The following are the average grades of the members of the several classes of the Seminary, for the term ending Jan 31st. Ten is the maximum.

GENERAL NOTES

The Germans of Louisville are greatly excited over the proposed Sunday prohibitory law pending in the Legislature, and a very determined effort will be made by them to prevent its passage.

There are some curious laws on Pennsylvania statute books. It was only the other day that mention was made of the law in the State which authorized a married man to refuse his mother in law access to his wife, and to forbid his wife access to the church of her faith. A case in a Philadelphia court on Saturday last developed another quaint regulation in force in the land of Penn, and this is that, in addition to the ordinary duty of a man to support his wife and children, if he have any, the law of Pennsylvania also requests that where a "poor person is not able to work" and has parents or grandparents, children or grandchildren, such ancestrial progenitors or descendant posterity, as the case may be, "shall relieve and maintain such poor person" at the rate to be prescribed by the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Forney's Chronicle prints a conversation which Colonel Forney and General Sickles had with Mr Stanton immediately after Mr Sickles was appointed to Madrid. The ex Secretary is represented as saying: "We must make no mistake about Spain. She is one of our oldest and ablest allies, and behaved splendidly to us during the rebellion, refusing to open her ports to Confederate cruisers, and never plotting through her Minister here, like England, against our cause. Spaniards are a proud, peculiar race, and we can not do any good for liberty in Cuba by hasty action. Their prejudices must be respected, their interests must not be invaded, their traditions must be remembered. Things are moving in the right way at Madrid. I know this, gentlemen. There is a new Spain, and you will both live to see a solid Spanish Republic there if we can only restrain our politicians. About Cuba, that pear is ripening, and will fall as soon as the days of kings are ended in Spain."

A Berlin correspondent writes to the Christian Union: A while ago the late Dr Lieber published a card calling for the origin of an anecdote of Washington, which one of the Professor's law students had heard from Laboulaye: Washington and Jefferson being at tea together, the latter was arguing against two houses, and demanded of Washington some good reason for a Senate. "You, yourself, Mr Jefferson," said Washington, "have just given me the argument. Finding your tea too hot, you poured it from the cup into the saucer to cool it; we need a second chamber to cool off the first." Your correspondent remembers telling this anecdote to Laboulaye at his table several years ago, and my authority for it was the late Judge Daggett, who told it, with inimitable gusto, in his law lectures to the senior class in Yale College. His authority was probably the former Senator, Hillhouse, of New Haven, and any survivor of the Daggett or the Hillhouse family should be able to verify so good an anecdote of Washington, and to put it on record beyond a question.

An Extraordinary Surgical Operation.—The London Lancet gives an account of an extraordinary operation, in which the nerves of the left upper extremity, from their origin at the vertebral column almost to their intersection at the hand, were raised from their beds and subjected to stretching and pulling. The patient was a soldier, and had been struck on the nape of the neck by the butt of a musket, and following this injury there was the most violent contraction of the muscles of the upper extremity, attended by a loss of sensation in the skin over the same. This was continued for nearly two years, when the operation was performed by making three long incisions—one over the arm, one in the axilla, and one over the left clavicle; the nerves were raised, submitted to the manipulations described above, and then returned, and when the wounds healed the parts were restored to their normal state.

The oratorio of Esther and the cantata of the Haymakers are sweeping through western New York with all the violence of the epizootic. Nearly a thousand young ladies have been crowned, and as many more young men have been jerked higher than Haman, figuratively speaking, and still the music goes on.

PORTLAND March 4, 1873

To Baker Post No 1, Grand Army of the Republic, W L. Adams, J W Peters and other gentlemen, greeting:

Deeply impressed with a sense of gratitude for the high honor you have conferred upon me by the above complimentary invitation, and proudly conscious that the honor is not so much intended for myself as for the memory of the illustrious dead whom all American patriots revere, I, with trepidation, yet not without hope that I may do the subject at least a degree of justice in your estimation, accept your proffered courtesy and respectfully suggest SATURDAY EVENING, March 8th, at half past 7 o'clock, in the Oro Fino Theater, as the time and place for the lecture. I also respectfully request the members of Baker Post, No 1, G A R, to attend in a body, as I shall deliver an original poem as an especial compliment to the Oregon Division of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Hoping and believing that our citizens will take the interest in my first attempt of the kind in this city which the importance of the subject deserves, I remain most respectfully, your obedient servant

CITY.

An Ancient Teakettle.—The other day an ancient teakettle was brought to Mr J H Fisk, of this city, for that gentleman to purchase, or to melt and cast into a bar. The teakettle was made of silver, and was offered for sale very cheap. Mr Fisk declined to purchase the article at the price indicated, but run it into a bar. On placing the pot on the scales he found it weighed 19 ounces. It proved on the analysis to be of the purest quality of silver, and was worth $51 7. The only remarkable thing connected with this tea-pot, was its great age and historic associations. The vessel was of the most elegant and elaborate workmanship, the sides and edges being ornamented with quaint chasings. It was of English manufacture, as was indicated by the lion and the unicorn struggling for the possession of the Crown. There was no date by which the exact age of the pot could be determined, but it must have been more than a century old. In the early colonial history of New York, this article was attached to the household of one of the Governors appointed by the English Crown, and has subsequently descended in the regular order from father to son, until it reached the owner who offered it for sale. Every appearance of the vessel indicated great age and constant usage. In several places the sides were nearly worn through by the service it had seen. The main part of the vessel rested on an urn-shaped base. Attached to this was a small spirit lamp by which the temperature of the liquid—tea or coffee—could be kept up to the proper degree. The vessel is quite an heir loom, and on the account of its associations would have been highly prized by those in quest of historic relics.

Ship Siam Lost.—A dispatch was received late yesterday afternoon by Messrs. Hewett Wilson & Co., of this city, stating that the ship Siam was lost off Cape Horn. No particulars were given either as to the circumstances of the loss of the vessel, the date, or the fate of the crew. The Siam was an English vessel and sailed from this port last winter with a cargo of wheat, bound for Europe. Messrs. Hewett, Wilson & Co., were the charterers. The vessel was quite old, and had been used in former years by the British government in the transportation of troops to India. She brought out from Middlesborough a large cargo of railroad iron which was discharged at Astoria. We have heard it rumored—but do not presume to say what degree of credence can be attached to it—that while the Siam was on the way to this port from England, the cargo was shifted in the hull during a heavy sea, which badly strained some of the timbers of the vessel. When the vessel left Astoria she was drawing about 20 feet of water. The Siam reached the latitude of the Cape during the worst time of the year. A succession of terrific gales and rough seas probably caused the ship to spring a leak, which resulted in her foundering, or she was driven on the rocks and wrecked. We have not been able to learn how much cargo was on board, or for what amount it was insured. Full particulars will probably be received in a few days.

Clatsop has Responded.—Mr. A. J. Dufur returned last evening from Astoria, at which point he lectured on the Centennial Celebration last Tuesday evening. He reports that the people of Astoria and Clatsop county generally, manifested a lively interest in the great national enterprise now on foot to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. He canvassed the town, and in less than four hours succeeded in raising more subscriptions than were apportioned to that county according to the number of population. All who subscribed stock paid down the first installment. This morning Mr. Dufur will proceed to the Dalles. He will lecture at that place this evening. Returning here on Monday next, he will proceed south, lecture at Salem on Tuesday evening next, and from thence will visit the different towns of the State, lecturing and canvassing for stock. A much better degree of success attends his efforts than he anticipated. Wherever he goes, he succeeds in awakening a lively interest among the people of the State who liberally responded to the call for stock.

Annual Ball.—The thirteenth annual ball of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society will be given at the Masonic Hall, on the evening of March 17th. The following are the several committees appointed:

Committee of Arrangements—T. F. B McDevitt, M. Owens, James Freiney, Wm. Mulchay, W. J Kelly, T. McKay, M. J. Gleason, Peter Cline, T. McLaughlin, N. O'Neil, T. Rodgers, Wm. Casey.

Reception Committee—E. Cahalin, T McLaughlin, M J. Gleason, M Owens, T. Rodgers, Wm. Casey.

Floor Managers—T. F B. McDevitt, Wm. Mulchay, Jas. Freiney, Peter Cline, T. McKay, N. O'Neil, W. J. Kelly.

Music will be furnished by the East Portland Band.

Mrs. Duniway's Lecture.—In response to a general request from our prominent citizens, including the members of Baker Post G. A. R., Mrs. A. J. Duniway will deliver a lecture at Oro Fino Theater on Saturday evening next. Her subject on that occasion will be "The Life and Times of Col. E. D. Baker." At the close of the lecture, an original poem will be recited by the speaker, addressed to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who are requested to attend in a body. From years of intimate acquaintanceship with, and an extended personal knowledge of the earlier history of the illustrious orator, poet, soldier and statesman, Mrs. Duniway is probably one of the few persons qualified to do the subject in all its bearings ample justice.

Scandinavian Emigrants.—Rev. Dr. Fridrichsen, of East Portland, informs us that there has landed in the city of New York alone, during the past season, 22,000 emigrants from the three kingdoms of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, who have come to these shores for the purpose of settlement and colonization. Mr. Fridrichsen is in constant correspondence with several of the Scandinavian journals, of both the Old World and the United States. By his representations and description of this State, he has been instrumental in inducing many of his countrymen to immigrate here. He states that some thirty families contemplate moving to Oregon the coming spring from the Western States.

Passengers for Portland.—The steamer Oriflamme sailed for this port yesterday from San Francisco with the following passengers: Jas G Hughes and wife, Miss M Hughes, H Hedger, Mrs T Jacens and child, A Rosenbaum, Miss M Marley, Mrs G C Hopkins, J T Crowe, John Easthbrooks, S Ottenheimer, D O'Neil, G I Webber, J Howe, M L Goodall, L Levy, D Whitney, D Matthews, L Redlich, A L Bunon, L Saunders, S E Hilliard, P L Higgerty, C F Haywood, Mrs Rice, Mrs Voorhees and 2 children, W J Van Schuyver, Mrs S Burdell, S R Jones, L Bettman, J Badgely, N Dexter.

Specimens of Wood.—A gentleman who resides at Astoria, presented Mr. Dufur a cabinet containing specimens of wood peculiar to this State. There are thirteen specimens of such growths, among which are the Bay, Muck Orange, Myrtle, Laurel, Bird's Eye Maple and Yew wood. These different specimens of wood are susceptible of receiving a high degree of polish and can be utilized in the manufacture of various kinds of furniture. The gentleman gave the cabinet to Mr Dufur for the purpose of having it placed on exhibition at the Centennial Fair, to indicate the wealth of wood in the State.

We notice on the cover of Samuel's City Directory, "How to save money. See page 16. Practice economy in your daily expenditures. Save money in buying the Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Sales exceed all others on the north Pacific coast." Mr Traver, by liberal advertising, has kept this popular Machine far in advance of its high priced competitors. As he receives them direct from manufacturers, he sells them much less than other machines sold in this city. Will receive another supply per steamer.

Verdict.—The jury empanneled in the case of Abraham Ford vs School District No. 1, returned a verdict last evening, awarding the sum of $1,170 to the plaintiff. The suit was brought by the plaintiff against the district to recover the price of the heating apparatus for the Central school house, which was alleged by the directors to be defective and inadequate to meet the demands of the school. All the costs in the case are of course taxed to the District.

Meeting of Committees.—A meeting of the committees appointed by the Hibernian Society and Emmet Guard to make arrangements for the celebration of the 17th inst., will be held on Sunday next. Invitations have been issued to various societies to participate in the celebration, and every preparation is being made to have the event pass off in grand style.

Greatly Moderating.—Heavy rains, and the great moderation in the temperature along the Upper Columbia promise an early rise in that stream, and consequently the resumption of navigation. At Walla Walla on the afternoon of Wednesday the rain fell in torrents, and the thermometer indicated 70°. Such temperature accompanied with rain, is likely to produce a telling effect on the immense quantities of snow on the mountains.

Next Week.—The prospective trial trip and excursion of the steamer Annie Stewart, will probably not take place until the early part of next week. Numerous invitations will be issued, and a number of prominent persons from the city and various points along the river are expected to accompany the excursion.

Nearly Finished.—The large wharf being built by a Mr Maux, about three miles down the river, is nearly finished, the piles having been driven some days ago. This wharf will be used as a place for the receipt and discharge of wood, Mr. Maux being the proprietor of an extensive wood yard at that point.

Will Load with Flour.—The schooner Oregonian received instructions from San Francisco yesterday to load with a cargo of flour at this port. She has completed discharging cargo at the wharf, and will have quick dispatch for San Francisco. This schooner will probably go down the river on Saturday.

Recovered.—The Advocate says: Miss P. Levy, the highly accomplished teacher of French, German and needle work, Portland Academy, was quite ill for a few week. We are glad to inform our readers that having regained her health, Miss Levy is again at her post of duty.

In the River.—Advices from Astoria state that the brigs Orient and Perpetua are now in the river at that place. An English bark, name and cargo unknown, from Valparaiso, also crossed the bar on Wednesday, and lies at anchor below Astoria. These vessels will soon arrive at this port.

Condemned Hose.—A large quantity of India rubber hose, condemned by the Government officials, was brought to this port yesterday morning on the steamer Vancouver, having been purchased by one of the firms of the city.

Special Meetings.—A series of special meetings have been held in the First Presbyterian Church of this city, Rev. A. L. Lindsley, pastor. The object has been to awaken religious interest on the part of young and old.

A. Ehman builds neat and substantial cottage houses, hard finished, for $650. Prices for story and a half and two story houses reasonable in proportion. Plans of houses on hand. Inquire at 105 First street, opposite postoffice.

Navigation Resumed.—The Columbia river is slowly rising and the weather is constantly moderating. Navigation through to Lewiston will probably be opened by Monday next.

The County Court.—The County Court adjourned last evening to convene again to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Read the card.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

The following is the report submitted to the Circuit Court by the grand jury at the present term of the court:

To the Hon W W Upton, Judge of the Circuit Court for the county of Multnomah, State of Oregon:

We, the grand jury, duly summoned and empanneled for the February term of this court, 1873, respectfully present herein our report of proceedings held at the term, and have to state that we find our duties completed.

Twenty two cases were presented for our consideration, of which we have ignored eight, and found fourteen true bills.

We have visited several public institutions, and beg leave to report that the asylum for the insane, at East Portland, is, in our estimation, entitled to rate with the first class institutions of the kind. The proprietor, Dr J. C Hawthorne, has surrounded himself with painstaking and humane assistants, in all the various departments, and on a comparison with other asylums, show as good results following from the system of treatment, if not better, than are usual. The grounds and buildings are kept scrupulously clean; good food is provided and plenty of it, and we hear of no complaints from any source.

The county jail we find in good condition, neat, clean and comfortable, but there is a lack of suitable accommodations for the increasing demand upon this institution, particularly in respect to departments for that class of people who are not criminals, nor incarcerated as such, as is often the case; for instance, with witnesses in important suits pending in the courts, who may be unable to give suitable bonds for their appearance, and for security are detained in custody by the sheriff. There being no other accommodations, such persons are compelled to be and remain in cells with prisoners confined by reason of crimes committed against the laws, which we deem a disgrace; and we would most respectfully call attention to the existing facts and recommend such action on the part of the county authorities to remedy the evil complained of as may be deemed just and necessary.

We find here incarcerated three youths for the crime of larceny, and consider that the necessity of the erection of a Reform School for such class of offenders is a matter of much importance that cannot be too speedily inaugurated and consummated.

The Farm and County Hospital for county poor, we find to be well kept, and managed by the present Superintendent. The buildings appear to be ample and well constructed, and cleanly provided. There are not near so many patients in the hospital as a year ago, and those there have no complaints to make. They are provided with careful medical attendance, wholesome food and suitable clothing.

The city jail is a striking contrast with the one so frequently condemned by former grand juries and is really creditable to Portland. We find it in excellent condition. A chain gang for the employment of prisoners convicted of petit offenses, who frequently seek the jail as a home in preference to earning an honest livelihood, appears to be one of the best features of this institution.

In concluding our report, we beg leave to speak in terms of commendation of the manner of keeping the records and property of the county, by the Clerk, Mr. W. H. Harris, who has inaugurated and carried out a system of arrangement that will in future years, if properly followed, by his successors, be of very great value to every person having business in the courts of the county. Mr. Harris is deserving of compliments for the efficient manner in which he discharges his duties, and we should feel remiss in neglecting to make favorable mention of his efforts.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

DAVID POWELL, Foreman.

JAMES ABRAHAM,

Mr. Butler, in his closing speech, made a serious charge against the Hon. Wm. M. Evarts. He said that Mr. Evarts, while the agent of the United States at the Geneva Conference, was the paid attorney of the insurance companies, and that he had since admitted it. Mr. Butler further accused him of being on the floor of the House advocating the claims of the insurance companies to members, and said that he had not changed the opinion of any honest man who had heard both sides of the question. The companies made over $2,000,000 out of the war, and now they wanted to come in and take $5,000,000 of the award that belonged to claimants who had suffered actual loss.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Butler got up a quarrel with Mr. Kerr, during which each accused the other of falsehood two or three times. Mr Kerr had made a vigorous speech, a short time before, in support of the insurance claims. Mr. Butler intimated that the attorney of the companies had convinced Mr. Kerr, and said that Mr. Kerr had accompanied the attorney to a committee room, and had there held a consultation with him. Mr. Kerr said this was false. Mr. Butler asked if he had not talked with the attorney in the committee room. Mr Kerr acknowledged that he had, but denied that he had accompanied him there. Mr. Butler said that this reply was an evasion which admitted the truth of his statement. His purpose in referring to Mr Kerr's consultation was apparently to charge the opposition to the bill to the influence of the one sided arguments and sophistries of Mr Evarts, who was the attorney meant. When Mr Butler made his attack on Mr. Evarts, Mr Kerr made a thrust at him by asking him if he was not the attorney of the other claimants and opposing the insurance claims in their interest.

"Well, I have heard it so stated," said Mr. Kerr.

"It is false!" replied Mr. Butler. "There are some men who have so little acquaintance with an honest transaction that they don't know it when they see it."

"You are one of that kind," retorted Mr. Kerr. Mr. Banks here interposed with a point of order and prevented the altercation from going any further.

HUMOROUS.

"We have not chairs enough for our company," said a gay wife to her frugal husband. "Plenty of chairs, dear, but too much company," replied the gay young wife's husband, with a sigh.

"You say," said a judge to a witness, "that the plaintiff resorted to an ingenious use of circumstantial evidence: state just exactly what you mean by that." "Well," said the witness, "my exact meaning is that he lied."

A Cincinnati poet addressed a "Farewell to Mario," commencing with "Hail! King of Tenors." His remarks were not high toned when it appeared in the Commercial as "Hail! King of Terrors."

Boswell once asked Johnson if there were no possible circumstances under which suicide would be justifiable. "No," was the reply. "Well," says Boswell, "suppose a man had been guilty of fraud that he was certain would be found out." "Why, then," says Johnson, "in that case let him go to some country where he is not known, and not to the devil, where he is known."

There was once an old woman who, in answer to a visiting almoner's inquiries as to how she did, said: "Oh, sir, the Lord is very good to me, I've lost my husband and my eldest son, and my youngest daughter, and I'm half blind, and I can't sleep or move about for the rheumatics, but I've got two teeth left in my head, and praise and bless His holy name, they're opposite each other!" It has been said that this old woman was thankful for small mercies.

Those who witnessed Lincoln's first inauguration will not soon forget one little scene which then occurred. The President elect came forward upon the platform prepared at the east front of the Capitol, with his natural awkwardness, increased by the momentous circumstances of the occasion, and by a gorgeous wardrobe, in which it was evident he felt exceedingly uncomfortable. The stiff dress coat, vest, and pantaloons of black broadcloth, were enough of themselves to disturb his mental and physical equanimity, but to these were added other incumbrances in the shape of a brand new silk hat and a ponderous gold-headed cane. The cane he managed to put away in a corner, but the disposition of the hat perplexed him greatly. It was too good to throw away, too nice, as he thought, to rest upon the rough boards, so, for a minute at least, poor Lincoln stood there in the gaze of assembled thousands, grasping the hat desperately and seeking in vain for a safe place to deposit it. Douglas, who sat immediately in the rear, saw the embarrassment of his rival, and rising, took the shining beaver from its sorely bothered owner and held it during the delivery of the inaugural address.

Mary, Queen of Scots

The London correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle speaks of the proposed canonization of Mary, Queen of Scots, as follows:

According to the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, Pope Pius IX is about to add this lady to the list of Saints. Her detractors are already whetting their quills, throwing foul ink at her memory and discharging defamatory protests at the Pope. The Echo is out to-day with an article on the subject. It rankles with a good deal of the old English antipathy to Scotch names of renown. It protests against adding this Mary to the sacred three of Nazareth, Bethany and Magdalen. It insists that, if the Scottish Queen had forborne from innumerable misdeeds, plots and perfidies, her head would never have been laid on the scaffold in Fotheringay. "Think as we may," says the Echo, "of the hideous scene when she stood in that grim hall, lighted up by the comfortable Christmas fire, and donned her blood red satin sleeves and robes, and pitiful as we cannot but feel for the butterfly broken on the wheel, the woman of pleasure brought to this cruel death after her long and sad captivity, it is impossible to doubt that hundreds in all ages have suffered the last penalty for offenses far less than hers." Her laudators will, of course, rush to the rescue. We shall probably soon have a revival of the old literary war over her merits and demerits. The most prosaic Scot who adores John Knox has still a tear for the miseries of the beautiful and hapless Queen whom the great reformer so ruthlessly withstood, and our brethren across the border are not likely to love the Holy Father any the less for this promised tribute to their cherished Queen.

The history of modern nations contains no more eloquent fact showing the beauties of republican government than that we have been able to disband our immense armies, returning our soldiers to the pursuits of industry from which they came. And now, with so vast a territory and so great a population, with positions to guard from Indians, we have only 30,000 soldiers, rank and file. The whole expense of sustaining our War Department is but $35,000,000, while the estimates of the coming year show a still further reduction of $2,000,000.—Boston Globe.

Josh Billings will soon celebrate his fifty-fifth birthday. As A. Ward said of Chauser, "He has talent, but he can't spell."

Patent self rolling shades, fine oil painted shades, lace curtains and cornices. Work done reasonably and satisfactory at Paul Richter's.

We can commend Messrs Geo P Rowell & Co. of New York to those of our patrons who may have occasion to advertise in papers beyond their immediate vicinity, as the firm have business relations with the press throughout the whole country—Quincy (Ill.) Whig.

The profession and the public acknowledge the wonderful cures which have been effected by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is the best remedy extant for all lung troubles, from the slightest cold to the settled disease.

Perils of the Season

The inhospitable winds and chilly fogs of spring are unwelcome visitors to the feeble and ailing, and are by no means congenial to the healthy. If there is any germ of disease lurking in the system, they are sure to develop it, unless proper precautions are taken to prevent such a misfortune. Bilious complaints, dyspepsia, nervous debility, rheumatism, irregularities of the bowels, and disorders which affect the kidneys, are all aggravated by the peculiar condition of the atmosphere at this season. Invalids who are subject to any of these disorders, or have a predisposition thereto, should therefore forearm themselves against danger by strengthening the digestive organs, the nervous system and the muscular fibre with daily doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. There is no period of the year at which a stimulating tonic and regulating medicine is more urgently required than in the spring, and there is no preparation of that class in which so many valuable restorative and preventive properties are combined in such a perfectly safe and harmless form as in Hostetter's Bitters. It may be stated positively, as an uncontradictable fact, that a course of this agreeable vegetable specific commenced now and continued through the spring months, will effectually shield the inhabitants of marshy and miasmatic localities from the intermittent and remittent fevers caused by unhealthy exhalations from a wet soil.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

A Railroad Watch.
TRAVELERS BY RAILROAD FREQUENTLY FIND their Watches completely demoralized by the continuous jar of the train. To overcome this difficulty has long been a problem with watchmakers, and it is now successfully accomplished in the new grade made by the
AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY OF WALTHAM.
This Watch is made in the most substantial manner, on the most approved principles, and combines all the recent improvements. It has a new micrometrical regulator, by which the slightest variation can be easily corrected. It is carefully adjusted, and may be entirely relied on to run accurately, wear well, and

Best Watch for the Price in the Market.
The Superintendent of one of the Nevada Mines writes that

Swift Justice

A merchant left St Petersburg to travel across Europe In the course of his journey he arrived at Warsaw Being furnished with a letter of introduction he repaired to the house of one of the chief citizens there at 1 was most courteously received He stayed at Warsaw for a week and his host spared no pains to make the visit agreeable and showed him everything worth seeing in the town Indeed, the visitor was quite overwhelmed by an amount of kindness rarely shown to any but a friend of long standing

At length the pleasant visit drew to a close and after breakfast the guest expressed his wish to see some poor parts of the town of which he had heard But said he, I have with me a small box of great value that I do not like to risk in such places If it were my own I should not be so particular but it was intrusted to me by a friend, who requested me to deliver it to a person in another town It contains diamonds and other valuables Would you do me the great favor of taking charge of it for the day The host with his usual urbanity willingly agreed to the proposal and the merchant departed with a light heart on his tour of inspection I forget the name but let us say in the 'Seven Dials, or Five Points,' of Warsaw

Next morning after breakfast he cordially thanked his kind entertainers for their zealous hospitality, and added as he was about to depart, he would resume charge of the box, which had before never quitted his person since he had received it from its owner The host and hostess stared at him in well acted amazement What box? asked the host 'I remember no box—do you, my dear?' turning to his wife 'No,' she said, I have no recollection of any box whatever "What was it like?" asked the host, "perhaps you left it in your room But on the merchant persisting that it was with the host himself it had been left, on his turning to his hostess and trying to make her recollect the circumstance, both (after appealing to each other several times, and fortifying each other in their denial) became cold and distant, and began hinting that something must have happened to the merchant, to induce him to persist in so strange a delusion As the host touched his forehead with a significant glance, the poor man remembered that he was in a strange city, the ground seemed to be slipping from under his feet, danger to himself loomed in the distance, and he hastened from the house in alarm Straight to the police he went, and stated his case The official listened imperturbably to the whole story, and then asked —'You gave up this valuable box to an acquaintance of one week s standing without any witness or any written acknowledgement?'

"He had been so very kind, a man in his position—

Bah' you a man of business! But you have no proof that the box belongs to you?"

"None whatever—except the key It is locked, and I have the key—here it is,' and he produced a small key from an inner pocket

The official remained lost in thought for some time, and then said, 'Well, I will do the only thing I can for you The Archduke Constantine (the Governor of Poland) is a stern, harsh man, but he is known for his rigorous justice, and if he believes your story he will do his best for you I will take you to him at once."

No time was lost, and the merchant soon found himself in the Archduke's presence, and was desired to relate his story When it was concluded, the Archduke, after a few moments reflection, rang a bell An official appeared. "Send for M , naming the treacherous host. It was done, and the Archduke, without preamble or question, said to the guilty man "Sit down at that writing-table, and write as I shall dictate to you.' The man took his seat and took up the pen, the Archduke began dictating

"My dear wife All is found out—"

"No," said the man, springing from his seat, "I won't write that "

"Then, you are guilty," was the prompt answer.

Puzzled and foiled, he resumed his seat and wrote as he was desired

"My dear wife All is found out, send the box by the bearer "

Then he signed it with his own name, by the Archduke s order, and a messenger was dispatched by it The messenger found the lady at her toilet. When she read the missive she turned ashy pale, trembling violently Then, leaning forward, she drew the box from the recess in her toilet table, and handed it to the bearer, who swiftly returning, placed it in the hands of the Archduke He immediately handed it to the merchant, desiring him to unlock it that being done, he asked whether the diamonds were all there Yes, the box had not been opened, they were exactly as the merchant had left them

Again the Archduke rang the bell, and to the attendant who entered he said, designating the guilty man, 'Take him to Siberia, he is not to go to his own house again "

A Juvenile Party in Brooklyn

A $7,000 OUTFIT ON A MISS OF SEVEN YEARS

A party was given one evening last week by the parents of a young miss of seven years at their sumptuous residence in Brooklyn, the guests being exclusively the companions male and female, of the daughter referred to The party was a full dress affair, the hours appointed being from 8 in the evening to 2 in the morning From 100 to 175 guests were present, who were received by the young hostess with as much ease and self possession as a matron could assume

The dresses consisted of white pink yellow, lavender and coil blue silk, elaborately trimmed and decked with spangles The hair was dressed in the latest style—frizzed, puffed, powdered, and adorned with flowers Four buttoned white kid gloves were generally worn, while French kid boots, matching the dresses in color incased the feet Only one thing was lacking in the miniature representation of an adult party viz enamelled faces Powder, however, was freely used but so artistically as to almost defy detection

One little girl (if she could be recognized as such) particularly engaged attention She could not have been more than nine years of age, and, in addition to the powdered hair and dazzling costume, she sported with true appreciation a pair of diamond earrings, a gold chain and watch studded with diamonds Upon each arm was a bracelet of elaborate workmanship which she held up for display exclaiming as she did so There s no sham about these, they re the real stuff, for mother said so "

Another child of seven summers was arrayed in a rose colored silk, $7 per yard, trimmed with three-point applique flounces, a galaxy of diamonds and other expensive jewelry, a gold belt, the buckle of which was literally covered with diamonds, a band of gold encircled the head, and from a pendant therefrom sparkled a solitaire of great value The mother was heard to exclaim exultingly that the price of her child's outfit for that evening was $7 000 A zealous mother overhearing the remark, declared, "upon the next occasion my daughter shall be dressed in tea rose silk which is by all means less common than pink As for jewelry she shall surpass Miss Nellie, or I m mistaken

The young gentlemen whose ages ranged from nine to fourteen years, were generally attired in black dress coats light pants, and lavender neckties Their ambition was exhibited by conspicuous gold watch chains and seal ornaments, Rings of every description and quality were worn, consisting of diamonds, onyx seal, amethyst topaz, emeralds, etc The hair of the elder swains was parted in the middle, and worn in long, floating locks

Music and dancing, interspersed with flirtations, occupied the evening At 12 the juvenile assembly was summonded to supper, which was perfect in its appointments, and served by colored waiters, imported for the occasion The adieus were spoken with sufficient grace and and ceremony to satisfy the most ardent devotee of modern etiquette As the reporter left the festive scence, the wonder why there was such a large number of vain and foolish women in the community had vanished

The chief officer of the warrant division of the Treasury Department Mr C [illegible] York Times has [illegible] very [illegible] statement [illegible] actual and apparent receipts and [illegible] tures of the United States for the last fiscal year [illegible] [illegible] of the House A [illegible] [illegible] how the actual [illegible] of [illegible] the Government [illegible] statement of the expenditure by warrants For instance the apparent ordinary expenditure for the Internal Revenue Bureau [illegible] but this includes $1 770 000 of money which the Government having paid out has collected again as fine in stance, in the case of salaries for store keepers and officers in charge of bonded warehouses The total actual net ordinary or current expenses of the Bureau is but $5 702 336 Mr Conant s statement divides all disbursements so as to distinguish those for all ordinary expenses for public works for miscellaneous objects and for unusual and extraordinary expenses From this recapitulation it appears that the total actual salaries paid by the Government are $26, 10 427 actual net ordinary expenses, $60,000,0[illegible] cost of public works, $16 243 690 miscellaneous 13 524 810 unusual and extraordinary expenses which includes interest on the public debt private claims paid by special act of Congress expenses of the ninth census and all similar expenses not connected with the current expenses of administering the Government $165 636 473 The total apparent expenditures of the Government in the last fiscal year were $277 517 0[illegible] 57 and the total actual expenses were $250 481 844 66 The total cost of administering the Government exclusive of the extraordinary and unusual expenses enumerated above the public works and miscellaneous was a little over $88 500 000

Miscellaneous

During the week ending February 21st, five vessels were sold at San Francisco as follows Schooner A P Jordan 181 tons $14 000; schooner Emeral 1[illegible] tons, $14 000 schooner Anastasia 57 tons $2,000 schooner Witch Queen 110 tons to M R Roberts for $8 500; steamer Gipsey, 168 tons, to Pacific Mail Steamship Company for $25,000

About one year ago two vessels were privately fitted out at San Francisco and cleared upon a secret fishing voyage. The Shooting Star has now turned up at Panama, with a load of seal skins and other valuable skins, furs etc The schooner Cygnet put in to Yokohama with it is said, a like cargo that has been disposed of in a way best suited to the pecuniary interest of those engaged in the service It is more than intimated that these two vessels and their cargoes ought by rights to have made their reports at the United States Customs, in conformity with the Alaska treaty

Home Produce Market

Owing to the dullness prevailing in San Francisco markets as indicated in our dispatches the depreciated condition of the Liverpool wheat market, the previously noted disarrangement of shipping facilities for ports to the north and the generally stormy weather during the present week it has been one of the most inactive in the line of domestic produce experienced here since the beginning of the year Dealers have so found it and some of them have done comparatively a small business The condition of the roads in the interior is said to be the very worst, and producers who live at all remote from shipping points find it almost impossible to obtain prices that will compensate for placing their products where they can be taken by the boats or cars hence the general receipts of domestic produce here, with the exception of a very few articles have been much below the average supply during the previous weeks of the present year With an exception of the same nature, the stocks generally carried by dealers, and in the hands of agents and commission merchants have, for the season, been quite large generally and sufficient to supply any demand that might be created by a temporary suspension of the ordinary receipts from first hands

WHEAT—There is yet a considerable surplus in the hands of farmers and others who have bought to a limited extent, intending to hold for an advance Some place the amount thus held in this valley at 400 000 bushels and others even at more than this The vessels which are here, with one exception have their cargoes already engaged and it is reported that 10 000 bushels would more than supply all the demand in this market and more would reduce rates even lower than at present One vessel is yet to arrive but as the time when she will reach here is uncertain her charterers manifest little disposition to be in haste about securing her cargo Quotations have ruled at about $1 60 during the entire week and to day witnesses no change what ever The market is nominally firm

FLOUR—Considerable shipments were made by the steamer for San Francisco on Tuesday the only ones for the week, hence trade has been quite dull except for local consumption Stocks have somewhat increased but prices are moderately firm at former quotations Oregon millers only buy choice lots of wheat and consequently usually pay a small advance on exporters prices for the raw material, and selling the product at current rates The season has not been a largely profitable one for the mills Figures are furnished to day at $5 50 per bbl for standard brands of extra outside and country brands command $4 50@5, and superfine for which there is a little more inquiry is quotable at $4 per barrel

OATS—We noted large shipments for San Francisco during the week, and expect to hear of lower rates thence on their arrival, as the demand at present there at present quotations is limited to the call for seeding purposes, which is easily supplied The low rates prevailing for other varieties of feed have cut off the requirement for Oats in that direction in the markets of California. Our local market is not supplied in particular excess of the demand but owing to the near approach of spring prices seem little inclined to advance We quote at 60 cents per bushel, and moderately firm with fair receipts Our figures include sacks

BARLEY—No important transactions have come under our observation for several days Oregon s crop of last year was only a small one, and the surplus has almost all passed out of first hands Dealers here pay $1 40@1 50 ₩ 100 pounds, sacked Local breweries are not generally short, but furnish a demand for the limited amount offering.

FEED—We quote Bran at $16@18 ₩ ton; Shorts $27@29 and Chops Middlings etc $30@32 The supply is moderate and trade is quite up to the average for the season Oil Cake Meal is scarce and is nominally quotable at $40 ₩ ton

HAY—A perceptible diminution of receipts is noticed but to counteract any disposition of holders to advance prices the demand seems duller But little has been done during the past few days Prices, however are firm at $16@18 ₩ ton for good timothy Wild is dull and closing no more than $8 or $9 ₩ ton being generally offered

GRAHAM FLOUR—Small stocks are on hand and with a good local demand and some call for shipping prices are firm at $2 75 ₩ bale of 100 lbs

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—The product of our State mills is furnished to dealers at 5½ cents ₩ pound in 50 lb sacks and 6½ in 10 lb sacks There quotations are only moderately firm, as the local demand seems somewhat lessened

OATMEAL—We note no important change but a moderate demand exists which is well supplied by our State mills at $o 10 ₩ hundred

HOMINY—The limited demand for local consumption is fairly supplied at current rates We quote at $5a6 50 ₩ 100 lbs

POTATOES—The various qualities offering command equally various prices Lowland potatoes are dull at 35 cents ₩ bushel while choice upland varieties are firmer at 45 cents The supply is adequate, and increased by importations of new from California

ONIONS—The market has a better tone than last week though quotations furnished are but little higher Choice lots would command 3 cents ₩ lb from dealers of which many are short of supply

APPLES—Prices given last week are well maintained and the demand for good shipping lots readily packed including boxes find ready sale at $1 ₩ box Common lots in box sell at 50a75c All kinds are scarce

BUTTER—Choice fresh dairy is not always scarce and current rates are freely paid but for ordinary lots prices are weak and the supply abundant. We quote at 18a 6 cents ₩ lb for common country Some lots have been received from California and are selling in this market at better figures than the average of Oregon make circumstance that redounds but little to our credit when we reflect on the facilities here for producing as good an article as the world affords

CHEESE—Of Oregon make there are three or four excellent brands in the market, all quotable at 17a 0 cents ₩ lb

EGGS—A better feeling exists in the market owing to lessened receipts, but rates are kept down by large stocks on hand We hear of small lots selling at 2[illegible] cents per dozen, which is likely a little advance on current rates

BACON—Still we note very large lots coming to hand and with that on store causes dealers to feel indifferent about making large purchases of unknown brands Ordinary lots are no higher, and we yet quote 9a10c ₩ lb for shoulders 11a12c for side and 13½a16½c for hams The San Francisco market to judge from mail advices is unusually dull for all sorts of Oregon cured

LARD—We quote at 10a11 cents ₩ lb in kegs and 11½a13c in tins There is rather more firmness in the market with the tendency to advanced rates is limited

POULTRY—A very fair local demand exists for choice lots of chickens and prices are firm Bad weather has diminished receipts, and we quote at $4 50@5 ₩ dozen, the latter only for finest.

HIDES—Prices are firm at our last quotations, which were 6@7c ₩ lb for green 7@8c for salted and 11@16c for dry

WOOL—Notwithstanding some advices to the contrary a careful examination of the probable requirements of manufacturing districts during the coming season justifies the presumption that rates for the present year s clip will rule higher perhaps not so much as at period during last year but still at an advance on the average for the last four years past At present there is but little doing in our home market

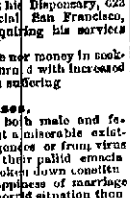
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cured from a cure before it be too late Send them immediately to DR GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, fœtid breath, coughs, consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patients' letters, etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure
